

Title of the talk

Jane Doe

Alfréd Rényi Institute of Mathematics,
Budapest, Hungary

joint work with Somebody

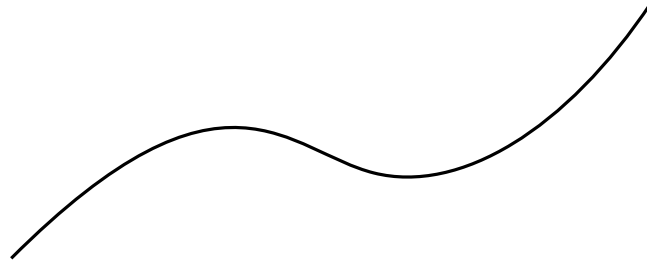

2042, Conference on Something, Another Country

Theorem. Everything is true if everything is assumed.

Theorem. Everything is true if everything is assumed.

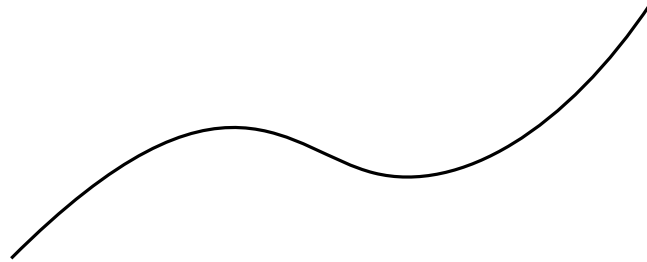

Proof. Goes without saying.

Page title (edit with CTRL+P)

Theorem. Everything is true if everything is assumed.

Proof. Goes without saying.

Remember:

- CTRL+SHIFT+I for new view
- F10 for new textbox
- S: selection mode
- CTRL+E to edit selection
- mouse right-click to edit selection properties
- CTRL+I for new page when page is finished